Broward scholarships

The Broward League of Cities awarded $1,000 scholarships to Sierra Molina of Pompano Beach High School; Zak Myers of South Broward High School; Rina Lakhlani of Nova High School; and Joanny Vazquez of the College Academy at Broward College. These students were awarded based on their leadership skills, academic performance, and their interest in government-related careers. The winners are pictured with Greg Ross, president of Broward League of Cities; Gordan and Luann Myers, parents of Zak; Musa and Miguel Molina, parents of Sierra; Karina Vasquez, mother of Joanny; Raksha and Nilesh Lakhlani, parents of Rina; and Shelley Eichner, co-chair of the Youth Leadership Committee.

Horace Mann Middle School

Horace Mann Middle School recently received a new computer lab donated by former NBA champion Ray Allen's Ray of Hope Foundation. The ribbon cutting ceremony included Allen and Schools Superintendent Alberto Carvalho, and was followed by 26 students actively participating in an assignment using the new computers.
